

THE DEMOCRAT.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY
HARNEY & JUGGES.
Office on Third street, East side, between Market and Jefferson, D.

Democratic Ticket, 1852.

FOR PRESIDENT,
FRANKLIN PIERCE, of N. Hampshire.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
WM. R. KING, of Alabama.

ELECTION FOR THE STATE AT LARGE.
JOHN W. STEVENSON, of Kenton,
BEVERLY L. CLARK, of Madison;

18th District—WM. H. BRADLEY, of Hopkins;
2d Dist.—J. P. BYERS, of Harrison;
3d Dist.—J. S. CHRISTIAN, of Wayne;
4th Dist.—J. M. ELLIOTT, of Floyd;
5th Dist.—N. GREEN, of Henry;
6th Dist.—J. C. HARRIS, of Scott;
8th Dist.—A. M. NEGLEY, of Bath;
10th Dist.—H. C. HAROLD, of Kenton.

NO NORTH, NO SOUTH, NO EAST, NO WEST
UNDER THE CONSTITUTION; BUT A SACRED
MAINTENANCE OF THE COMMON BOND AND TRUE DEVOTION TO THE COMMON BROTHER-
HOOD.—FRANKLIN PIERCE.

FOR CONGRESS—7th District.

Culvin Sanders,
OF SHELBY COUNTY.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1852.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION
Takes place on Tuesday, the 2nd day of November. The polls open at 6 o'clock
A. M., and close at 7 o'clock P. M.

THE HIGHFALUTIN.

Daniel Webster is gathered to his fathers, and a just tribute to his abilities and patriotism will suffice. It is to be regretted, then, that his admirers should disgust the common sense of mankind. Speaking of Webster's reply to Hayne, the editor of the Journal says:

"Democrates in his great oration on the Crown was suppressed, Cicero and all the great orators of antiquity were beaten. Cratian, Burke, Stendhal, Fox, &c., will be beaten."

The editor of the Journal gives up the cause of Webster, and the pyramid has ended, the most surprising oration that ever fell from human lips, not only without a parole, but, far, very few."

"Beyond all Greek, beyond all Roman fame."

The serviceability of the whig party for their distinguished men, is well known; but on an occasion like the present, they might observe some moderation and common sense. If they went to work an ad, let them perform their functions privately, and not expose themselves to the public gaze. They are casting their pearls before swine; for the great mass of common mortals can't aspire to that high expection which party organs have attained.

Indeed, the editor of the Journal gives out his opinion of people generally, in this same article. If Webster was so great, how happens it that the mass of the countrymen didn't find it out, and regard him according to his great merits! Here is the reason:

Carlyle says that genius can alone understand genius. This is a truism, and no longer. A man who has made only one speech, will have given more of their worth to study, and who, in his lecture, has given out what he has learned, has exposed himself to the world.

The majority are not great, nor accomplished. Mr. Webster was not, what is called a popular man, though he was as true in his instincts and all his principles to the rights of man, as peasant an advocate of doctrines which tend to the benefit of all other peoples, as any other man that this country has produced. But he was not great, nor the most popular, nor susceptible to the unfeeling, and brutal, methods, during his great exertions in behalf of the people, the people knew him not. A wise people, man must of necessity be a shadow man, or his hours have not been won in the Olympic games of intellectual and moral contests.

As a general rule, shallowness is "the badge of all their tribe"; that is, of the tribe of popular men, while they who deserve the most eminent popularity, dwell in a region too rare for the unaided eye of "the people," and, unfortunately, telescopic assistance is not common.

The last few sentences show why Gen. Scott and not Webster, was nominated as the whig candidate for President. Scott's achievements have been physical; and his success has been shallow. Shallowness is the badge of all the tribes of popular men. This explains, too, the great confidence in the popularity of Scott. He has the badge—the shallowness—his achievements have been physical, not intellectual.

It is wisely arranged by a kind Providence, that every misfortune has its compensation—The people don't fancy whig politicians great or small, and don't honor them as their merit, if they are not mistaken. As a compensation, these whig politicians and their friends are endowed with a happy self-complacency. They know that they are not popular. The mass of the people don't appreciate them—are in fact, incapable of it. They are not shallow, but deep, and can't be fathomed by vulgar mortals. This is a very convincing reflection, and whig politicians have need of it, and will be supplied with it by a kind Providence. It would be perhaps wicked to disturb the happy state of mind; but still we hope the people are wise in the contest which kept up with such a fierce heat.

In the contest the whig kept up with Jackson for so long a time, was entirely personal.

They pitied all the time they were contending for principle, but it was false by the showing of the Journal. Speaking of the mass of the democratic party, the editor says:

"Unquestionably their real creed is that of Anti-Slavery, and that of Compromising by the use of 'Mr. W.'s' method."

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

"It cannot escape the sagacious, quick-sighted jealousy of the West that the party calling itself Democratic is an unmitigated hounding and chafing, truly its own chosen standards—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, etc.,—that while it was either contemptuously thrown overboard or decisively flattered away at the prominent position of the South, it has, in the mean time, upon those principles still maintained in their original freshness and vigor, and held up to many diseases inherent to it."

Wistars Balsam of Wild Cherry!

The old remedy ever known to man.

For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Bronchitis, Inflammation, Bleeding of the Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Rheumatic Pain, or Weakness of the Breast or Side, First Stage Consumption, Febrile &c. &c.

Desperation.

The editor of the Journal has come out at least a first rate Jackson man. The old hero was a whig at first, and no body knew it.

THE DEMOCRAT.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1852.

A Word to Advertisers.—All the advertisements appearing in the Daily Democrat are to our Evening Edition, and receive a gratuity in return. Thus each patron of the morning paper has the advantage of an evening circulation to a double class of readers—if not of charge.

RALLY! RALLY!

Dr. GREEN, elector of this district, will speak at Lincroft, Jefferson county, on Friday, and at Beaver on Saturday.

Dr. Cross is announced to speak at the Court House on Saturday night next. The Dr. has been a firm and consistent whig, for more than five years, and now for the first time in his life, feels constrained from a delicate conviction of patriotic duty, to oppose the election of a whig candidate for the presidency. He is aware that this course is not deemed consistent by some of his former political associates. But he feels that it has good and sufficient reason for desiring to support Gen. Scott, and would be happy to have an opportunity to be heard on the subject, by any and all of his whig fellow-citizens, who have not prejudged the question. We hope that the Fillmore, Webster and Clay Whigs of the city will turn out and hear the Dr. We can promise them an able and eloquent speech, whatever they may think of the validity of his reasons for repudiating Gen. Scott.

Dr. Cross is one of the ablest speakers of any party in Kentucky, and no man is more thoroughly devoted to the Union and the Constitution.

The Courier is going to publish a charge against Philip Tempert, that he swindled a woman out of $100. When he published it, he will publish a falsehood—one that nobody will believe who knows Philip Tempert; and one that will be proven to be a falsehood on the shortest notice.

Since writing the above we have seen the documents in this case. They stamp the charge with falsehood. Tempert was but security, it will be seen, but he paid the money without even wishing for a suit against the principal. His conduct in the case was altogether honorable. The following, which we find among the papers in the case, are self-sufficient:

LOUISVILLE, June 27th, 1848.
Received from Mr. P. Tempert the sum of $100, (say one hundred dollars,) borrowed from Widow Keiser, in six months, with 5 per cent. yearly. JOHN PFALZER,
Security, / AGATHA PFALZER,
PHILIP TEMPERT.

[2] Received from Mr. P. Tempert the sum of $100, (one hundred dollars,) capital, standing by Pfalzer, which interest he has collected for me and paid to me. SOPHIA KEISER.

General Combs.

Read the report of Gen. Combs's speech in another column. Even now at this late date, here is a whig speaker from Kentucky preaching abolitionism in the Reserve of Ohio, to win free soil votes. The report is by a politics friend of Combs's, and published in a Scott whig paper. This is the most audacious impudence we ever heard of. Combs ought to make climb that pole with 'tether end foremost. In 1848 Metcalf, Morehead and Letcher went over to Ohio and Indiana preaching freesoilism and talking about the position of Kentucky. It has been told on them, and we did not expect a repetition of the effort. But here is a live whig from Kentucky holding forth amongst the abolitionists, warning them against the extension of slavery, and craving their votes for Scott, for the reason that he is with them, and that Kentucky is with them too. Such are whig politicians.

The Courier publishes a piece from the Concord Tribune, charging Gen. Pierce with drunkenness and intemperate habits generally. It is too late now to use a fresh lie with much effect; especially after so many previous ones. The public understand the trade of certain Scott editors too well, to be deceived now.

We take down this morning the propositions to bet which have stood for weeks in our columns. No Scottite has ventured even to inquire about them. There is no live whig now that will venture a pile, however small, on the result.

Read the advertisement of F. Marion Miller, Dry Goods Merchant, 497 Market st., and it will be seen that his establishment is the place to select beautiful and cheap goods from a large, varied and fresh stock. As it is the determination of Mr. M. to give better bargains at his establishment than can be procured elsewhere, the public will doubtless extend to him a liberal patronage.

We take pleasure in directing the attention of our readers to the establishment of Messrs. Steedman & Co., on Frontstreet, between Market and Jefferson. They are prepared to manufacture to order all kinds of vehicles—being excellent practical workmen themselves, their taste has been elegantly displayed in the manufacture of a Physician's Rockaway, which we noticed at their establishment yesterday.—For neatness and completeness of finish, it is unsurpassed by anything we have seen.

Responsibly yours, J. W. D.

[For the Louisville Democrat.]

LA GRANGE, KY., Oct. 15, 1852.

To the Editors of the Courier:—

In looking over the Courier of today, I notice a communication purporting to have been written from the place, signed "W.," giving his version of a meeting held at the Court House on Tuesday night last, by the democrats, and lauding Mr. R. T. Durfee, the democratic orator on that occasion.

The Ball of the Washington Blues takes place on the 24th of November, instead of the 23d, as was announced yesterday.

There was a rumor in Pittsburg on Saturday that the Northern Bank of Kentucky was broken.

If you wish to enjoy real good fun, go to Mcari Hall to night.

[For the Louisville Democrat.]

GENERAL SCOTT.

A gentleman who is a whig gives the following reason for not supporting Gen. Scott:

On the march from Vera Cruz to Mexico, a young man from this State became exhausted and unable to travel. He was barefooted, and his feet blistered and torn, so that he was unable to walk. He went to Gen. Scott and asked permission to ride in a wagon. This privilege was refused with indignant contempt. The young man got back to his company, attempted to walk, but gave out and laid down at the side of the road. Two of his cousins stepped up to him and refused to leave him, saying, "We would die here." One of the officers reported the case to Scott. The old man got fired with indignation, gave orders that they should be ordered into line, and court martialled if they disobey. The young man, however, was huddled into the tail of a bigge wagon, and his cousins resumed their places. We should have added that Scott saw the lacerated condition of the young man's feet, with his own eyes, and ordered him away out of his presence with contemptuous scorn. This is the reason six whigs, who were in the army, all of the same connection, and all whigs, will not vote for Scott. They know him to be a heartless unfeeling tyrant.

G. H. TYLER.

Wells's MINSTRELS gave a very successful performance last night, at Mozart Hall, to a crowded house.

Heavy Robbery.

We learn that a gentleman named Fisk, a passenger on the steamer Forest City, was robbed of about $20,000 on Thursday night last, while the boat was moored at Webber Island. The passengers were all searched, but nothing was found upon them, or in their baggage. Considerable excitement prevailed, and some doubt existed in the minds of the passengers, as to whether he lost the money or not. Fisk went on board the boat at this city.

Mysterious Affair—Three Bodies Found.

We learn from friends in the western Advertiser, yesterday, from slender and scarce details contained in the neighborhood of Liverpool, caused by the discovery of three dead bodies in the river, near that place. It appears that about a week or ten days ago a flat boat landed about two miles above Liverpool, after having there several days without any signs of activity aboard, several persons residing in the neighborhood were induced to go on board. They found the boat entirely deserted, and upon examining the beds, found them to be covered with blood. Furthermore the boat was dredged with sweeping lines, and the bodies of three men hooked up. Heavy weights were attached to their necks, which leaves no doubt that they were foully dealt with. The boat belongs to Miller & Gardner, Cincinnati, and is now in charge of the Sheriff of Anderson county.

Lake Sale of Ware.—The Cincinnati Price Current of Wednesday, this day, the latest and most complete in wool ever made in that market, took place last week. The quantity sold was $210,000 pounds, amounting to an aggregate to $155,000. The price realized shows a very large advance on the rates at which the market opened.

The Madison and Cincinnati packets are doing a thriving business. It is said their receipts for passage will average $2,000 per week.

The Herald, a free-soil paper lately started in Cincinnati, has been discontinued.

Steamboat runners are again at work on the Cincinnati wharf.

Argo, with his unequalled Saxon band, was at the Democratic Warneke, at Shivelyville, yesterday.

Our coal merchants are busily engaged in supplying our citizens with coal for the coming winter.

Spalding's Floating Palace is doing a land office business at New Orleans.

We understand that Mr. Murdoch, the distinguished tragedian, will commence a short engagement at the theatre in this city, on Monday night next.

Editor Louisville Democrat:

GENTS.—Having understood some time previously that there was to be an outpouring of the Democracy of this county, on yesterday, I willingly attended to assist in raising a very long and beautiful bunting—pole—one of the prettiest poles in the State, 130 feet high, and stands perfectly straight; on the top of which is a beautiful ensign, and a small distance below a magnificent flag, upon which is inscribed the names of PEACE and KING, and at the end is seen the emblem of the two political parties—the cock and rooster; the cock is making for his hole, while the rooster is keeping up a "fire in his rear," from the effects of which he appears to be much alarmed.

When I had arrived within about six or eight miles of town, I saw marked a gun of canonization among the good people, who had lined the road as far as could be seen, making haste to attend the democratic gathering. Among those whom I passed it was easy for me to distinguish a democrat from a whig at a glance. The former were all high spirits, and their countenances lit up with the glory of the approaching victory, while the latter appeared gloomy, and were going there to draw inferences of doom, which is awaiting the coors in November—to take a "hasty plate of soup," and "vamos"—Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Florida, were so plainly marked upon their countenances, that a wayfaring man, though a fool, could not err therein."

The gallant Gen. Pitcher took the stand and addressed the vast assembly of ladies and gentlemen, in a speech of some four hours. He made a highly interesting comparison of the merits of the two candidates: the one was not only, as he had always been, a staid candidate; but was now actually a traveling candidate for the presidency, nominated by the notorious Seward clique, and proved that he was their nominee, and not that of the Southern whigs; while the gallant Pierce had been the choice of the entire democracy, nominated by his party for his well known abilities, and firm stand by the constitution, the union, and the rights of the slave-holding states, in the face of the abolition sentiment of the North. He said that Franklin Pierce was, and had always been, one of the firmest and most undividing supporters of the constitution and the union.

His speech was received with long and loud cheers from the vast assemblage. In truth, I never listened to a better or more interesting speech, and the whigs were well pleased with his noble and patriotic address. At the conclusion of his speech, Gen. Pitcher left for Springfield, with a view of speaking there in the evening, a labor which but few could perform.

At easily candle lighting, we had another fine address from Col. C. S. Candler, of Harrodsburg. A gentleman of great merit as a debator, and of unflinching devotion to the democratic cause, and its gallant standard-bearers.

At the commencement of this gentleman's speech, and throughout the entire evening, the Col. was unceasingly harassed by boys, toppers, and blackguards, who had been hired and set on by a portion of the whigs, to annoy him in his address, by every species of the lowest and most disgraceful blackguardism known. Boys are in some instances excusable from their extreme youth, but not so with men; they should be taught to respect, at least, the ladies. But this disgraceful proceeding is alone attributable to the men who set them on.

They Come! and still They Come! A few more recruits to join the democratic army. Here they are:

W. A. Cooke, Esq., of Virginia, late whig candidate for the Senate from the Cumberland District, has left the whig ranks, and recently delivered a thrilling and eloquent address for Pierce and King, at the present time.

WE take down this morning the propositions to bet which have stood for weeks in our columns. No Scottite has ventured even to inquire about them. There is no live whig now that will venture a pile, however small, on the result.

Read the advertisement of F. Marion Miller, Dry Goods Merchant, 497 Market st., and it will be seen that his establishment is the place to select beautiful and cheap goods from a large, varied and fresh stock.

A gentleman of great merit as a debator, and of unflinching devotion to the democratic cause, and its gallant standard-bearers.

At the commencement of this gentleman's speech, and throughout the entire evening, the Col. was unceasingly harassed by boys, toppers, and blackguards, who had been hired and set on by a portion of the whigs, to annoy him in his address, by every species of the lowest and most disgraceful blackguardism known. Boys are in some instances excusable from their extreme youth, but not so with men; they should be taught to respect, at least, the ladies. But this disgraceful proceeding is alone attributable to the men who set them on.

Responsibly yours, J. W. D.

[For the Louisville Democrat.]

LA GRANGE, KY., Oct. 15, 1852.

To the Editors of the Courier:—

In looking over the Courier of today, I notice a communication purporting to have been written from the place, signed "W.," giving his version of a meeting held at the Court House on Tuesday night last, by the democrats, and lauding Mr. R. T. Durfee, the democratic orator on that occasion.

The Ball of the Washington Blues takes place on the 24th of November, instead of the 23d, as was announced yesterday.

There was a rumor in Pittsburg on Saturday that the Northern Bank of Kentucky was broken.

If you wish to enjoy real good fun, go to Mcari Hall to night.

[For the Louisville Democrat.]

GENERAL SCOTT.

A gentleman who is a whig gives the following reason for not supporting Gen. Scott:

On the march from Vera Cruz to Mexico, a young man from this State became exhausted and unable to travel. He was barefooted, and his feet blistered and torn, so that he was unable to walk. He went to Gen. Scott and asked permission to ride in a wagon. This privilege was refused with indignant contempt. The young man got back to his company, attempted to walk, but gave out and laid down at the side of the road. Two of his cousins stepped up to him and refused to leave him, saying, "We would die here." One of the officers reported the case to Scott. The old man got fired with indignation, gave orders that they should be ordered into line, and court martialled if they disobey. The young man, however, was huddled into the tail of a bigge wagon, and his cousins resumed their places. We should have added that Scott saw the lacerated condition of the young man's feet, with his own eyes, and ordered him away out of his presence with contemptuous scorn. This is the reason six whigs, who were in the army, all of the same connection, and all whigs, will not vote for Scott. They know him to be a heartless unfeeling tyrant.

G. H. TYLER.

Wells's MINSTRELS gave a very successful performance last night, at Mozart Hall, to a crowded house.

GERMAN MASS MEETING

At the Court House,
ON
This Evening,
OCTOBER 29th.

Several distinguished Speakers will be present and address the meeting. Every democrat in Louisville should be in attendance.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Professor Cross will address his fellow-citizens at the Court House on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our whig fellow-citizens will be present on this occasion, as the Professor will doubtless deliver an address that will richly repay them for their attendance.

At the Court House, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30th inst. It is hoped that many of our

